

Acknowledgment Section

Milenial Inc. acknowledges that the success of any business entering federal contracting—especially as a Black-owned and disadvantaged vendor—rests not only on technical skill, but also on resilience, discipline, and clarity.

This business plan was crafted through firsthand labor experience, years of independent research, and deliberate study of procurement systems not designed for ease of access.

We recognize the broader ecosystem of equity advocates, technical advisors, and policy framers working to open these systems. While Milenial Inc. moves independently, it moves with deep respect for the historic and ongoing struggle for equitable participation in federal opportunities.

In full clarity and intention,

Corey Pittman
